

Observational drawings, photo and research by Jessie Hickmott

Here, I practiced drawing some metal kitchen items. This helped me become more confident in drawing reflections. The arrangement & objects used are similar to those in this drawing by Tiffany Budd. The kitchen objects are all overlapping and appear reflective which is achieved by varying pressure when shading, which I did in my drawing.

After looking at some artist pieces, I began to take my own photos of reflective kitchen objects. I took a few, one of which can be seen below, but was unsure on which arrangement was best. I decided to overlap them as a way to give further reflection and dimension.
